

THE CREATION FLAG

(A school oriented program by creation institute)

The motive of this flagship program “The creation flag” is to refine the learning system of any educational institute. In today’s world of information technology each and every information is available on a single click of mouse but the ethics and moral values of society are going very low day by day.

Indian holy books are suggesting a quote "विद्या ददाति विनयम्" which has been disappeared from our current education trend. The objective of this quote has to be recovering to develop a ethical and humanitarian society.

On the other hand schools and institutes play very crucial role to make and develop a society. A school is a place where children spent most of the time and they get to learn many positive values in life.

Value based education shape their future and add purpose to their life. It helps them to learn the right way to live their life.

A primary approach to quality learning where it teaches them to remain connected to their parents as well as to other community.

It makes them learn how to deal with their day to day activities.

Helps them to gain self-responsibility for their behavior.

The school is a model of the world so the goal of value-based education in school is to nourish the learners with moral values, virtues based on which their actions will reflect their behavior. So, by educating the children with value education, you are creating a better world for tomorrow to live in.

Who We are

Dear Teachers, Parents and Students,

As Einstein quoted "It is supreme art of teacher to awaken joy in creative expression and knowledge."

Creation Institute is established and committed to restore the ethics and values in education, awaken the creativity and make the students more expressed and joyful.

We believe that effective teachers:

- Create opportunities for intellectual risk-taking, collaboration, problem-solving, and application of classroom learning to real life situations
- Implement strategies that promote ownership of learning to students;
- Design instruction to integrate a variety of innovative technological tools and resources to enhance learning;
- Demonstrate ongoing professional growth in order to increase the quality of instruction; Collaborate with colleagues to share and discuss exemplary practices, interpret student performance data, and design assessments that promote twenty-first century skills.

We believe that successful students:

- Communicate in a meaningful way for a variety of purposes and audiences;
- Demonstrate sensitivity to the precision and nuances of written, visual, and aural medium through comprehension, interpretation, and evaluation;
- Employ critical and creative thinking skills to solve problems;
- and Pose questions, examine possibilities, and apply skills to find solutions to authentic issues. Make positive choices related to physical and mental wellness;
- Contribute to the local and global community in a collaborative and respectful manner.

Our distinctive academic programs and innovative teaching methodologies encourage students to develop critical-thinking and learn through enquiry and reason, to exchange thoughts and ideas, to develop key personal and social values, to take ownership for his/ her choices and to set goals to realize their own unique potential.

We are continuously guided by developmentally appropriate principles in child development by the central Creation Institute team of academicians who develop newer scholastic and co-scholastic modules appropriate to the present generation.

The developmentally appropriate curriculum for young children provides all the areas of a child's development; physical, social, emotional and cognitive.

We value igniting the spark of creativity and curiosity in students.

Sessions on values and ethics by experts

"Emotional Intelligence"

Framework of this session contains following points.

Self-Awareness – People with high emotional intelligence are usually very self-aware. They understand their emotions, and because of this, they don't let their feelings rule them. They're confident – because they trust their intuition and don't let their emotions get out of control.

They're also willing to take an honest look at themselves. They know their strengths and weaknesses, and they work on these areas so they can perform better. Many people believe that this self-awareness is the most important part of emotional intelligence.

Self-Regulation – This is the ability to control emotions and impulses. People who self-regulate typically don't allow themselves to become too angry or jealous, and they don't make impulsive, careless decisions. They think before they act. Characteristics of self-regulation are thoughtfulness, comfort with change, integrity, and the ability to say no.

Motivation – People with a high degree of emotional intelligence are usually motivated. They're willing to defer immediate results for long-term success. They're highly productive, love a challenge, and are very effective in whatever they do.

Understanding the self in the light of Upanishad teachings.

The Vedas themselves predate Hinduism. They contain the mantras, chants, and lessons of the Vedic order.

And the Upanishads are an important part of that order.

In fact, they contain some of the most influential philosophical teachings of the age. They discuss things such as meditation, philosophy, higher state of being, and the nature of our maker.

But what's fascinating about the Upanishads is that even though its teachings are now thousands of years old, they are just as relevant today as they were back then.

So we're going to dive into the Upanishads to show you what they're all about and what 5 key lessons we can learn from these ancient, mystical texts today:

Samsara

Karma

Dharma

Moksha

Atman.

Understanding the focus and attention.

People have been told to concentrate but no one has been taught how to do it. So, We are trying to teach people across how to focus.

As soon as we control where awareness goes we control where energy flows.

As soon as we control where energy is flowing we control what is manifesting in our life.

And we need willpower and our powers of concentration to direct awareness.

Counseling skills for teachers.

Solution Focused Basic Counseling is a well researched psychotherapy approached used in schools developed by Creation Institute. In this workshop, the teachers will learn the basics of counseling, the solution focused approach, and crisis intervention.

Decision making

Each decision presents its own challenges, and we all have different ways of approaching problems.

So, how do we avoid making bad decisions – or leaving decisions to chance? We need a systematic approach to decision making so that, no matter what type of decision we have to make, we can take it with confidence.

Thus the session is designed and this session contains following points.

- Establishing a positive decision-making environment.

- Generating potential solutions.
- Evaluating the solutions. Deciding.
- Checking the decision.
- Communicating and implementing.

evaluation of the above sessions and career counseling.

We'll evaluate the overall effect of our sessions delivered throughout the year and after getting feedback we'll eliminate the negatives for next session and include the positive suggestions and we'll help children to choose right path for their future in our career counseling session.
